ODE IN HONOR OF THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.

BY JULIA WARD HOWE.

The God who sent these frosts of age
To cover the fire that's ever young,
Who furrowed my brow like a folded page,
Said: "Wilt thou die with my hymn unsung?
Travel by land, hasten by sea,
With the paschal song of humanity!"

So I, with wavering art and skill,
With strings half loosened, or over tense,
Stand on the Summit of Mars' red hill
And view the wonders of Providence.
"I wist not, Lord, that vision grand,
Would find my flesh in this living land."

Like the truant prophet whose will perverse
The leaping monster of ocean quelled,
Like careless Balaam, brought to curse,
Who mutely the heights of God beheld.
Me the Almighty message found
Witless of consecrated ground.

I see the dark Egyptian day,
I feel the sorrow that dare no sound,
I track through the desert's burning way,
The feet that thorns and pebbles wound,
While those who mock at the captive's prayer
Harbor the death angel unaware.

Heavy with hope I hear a hymn:
The crystal tear-drops of dusky night,
Sown to our eyes in distance dim,
Would thus the love of God indite,
If some lost Pleiad, held in chains,
Should breathe the secret of her pains.

Oh! patient labor, waiting long,
Hearts purged of anger's coarse alloy,
Your moan of grief was a battle-song,
You sowed in sorrow to reap in joy;
But many a mother's son went down
Before your manhood's outraged crown.

Terrible grew the black man's face
When God's stern justice shone therein;
We fought the fight of the captive race,
Smote in each other the twofold sin,
Until, the murderous conflict o'er,
The slave had risen to sink no more.

Beneath the shade of the lofty dome
Whose summit glitters in Freedom's sun,
He has the lordly right to come
And see the web of state begun;
Or through the limits of the land,
To point its lapses with iron hand.

I tuned my lyre to Rachel's tears,
Their fountain draining her bosom cleft;
I said, "There is no help in the flitting years,
In death that gathers the loves bereft.
The spring will gladden the soldier's graves
Like a fair ship glancing o'er sullen waves."

I said, "Rise and weep no more,
Thy dead are risen in God's great thought;
The land rejoices from shore to shore,
The earth is glad for the good deed wrought;
No isle so dim in the far off sea
But throbs with the promise of liberty."

And you who have given the costly prize
Of pain and peril you only know,
Who looked on the fallen with tearless eyes,
And asked, "What further may we bestow;"
Have gained for the future an undream'd good,
The high alliance of motherhood.

Your fiery hearts shall gird the globe
With living circles of love and care:
Your velvet fingers shall tend and probe
The ills that ripen to man's despair;
Your lifted music shall softly bring
The echo of songs that the angels sing.

Oh! hear my word, ere I lay aside
The poet's office of one grand day;
I'll come to human passion and pride,
While meekness and patience win their way
To where the heavens bend down to kiss
The holy heights of human bliss.

And this is the sentence I recall
For all the working world hear;
No sparrow in God's love is small,
No mite forgotten in his meed:
And, as I pondered its meaning well,
Silence to help my musing, fell.

INDEPENDENT.

STATE PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

In accordance with previous notice a number of the advocates of temperance met at Columbus on the first inst, for the purpose of nominating a state ticket, and transacting such other business as seemed necessary. Bro. J. A. Spencer, of Cleveland, was chosen president, committees were appointed who prepared reports, which were adopted, speeches were made, and other appropriate business disposed of. Forty-two counties were represented. The following nominations were made: Jay Odell, of Cleveland, for secretary of state; treasurer, Thomas Edmonson, of Clark; board of public works, E. G. Collins, of Hocking; supreme judge, G. T. Stewart, of Huron. An executive committee of five was named, and a state central committee, consisting of one from each district was selected. The first named committee is authorized to prepare an address for distribution.

Resolutions were adopted declaring independence as a party; their right to the position taken by them; the right and duty of the people to abolish and forever prohibit the manufacture or importation of liquors for use as a beverage; that it is the duty of the government to repress such traffic; that total prohibition is the only satisfactory way of disposing of the liquor question, and that laws to license or sanction it are insane and infamous; that the policy of the government in attempting to suppress crime in detail, instead of striking at its most prolific source, the liquor traffic, is absurd in the extreme, and should be corrected at once. The platform adopted by the national temperance convention held at Chicago last September was approved and adopted. A resolution favoring female suffrage was discussed but not agreed to.

This party as we understand it, goes for principle—the offices, honors, party triumph, and all that are merely subsidary considerations. None advocating its principles are so sanguine as to expect immediate success, but all are confident of ultimate triumph. How near this realization may be to us as to time no one knows, but that it will achieve victory is as certain as anything to come in the future. At present, and we hope ever hereafter, it may be guided by principle, for that is the only sure foundation of prosperity to any organization. To be on the winning side, to have the offices, to revel in the honors of success, is the ambition of partizans who are not inspired by the most exalted considerations. True temperance men and women should look beyond these things, and they do, for they are working for the right, which is eternal.

DEATH IN THE BEER POT.

[From the New York Sun, May 25.]

A fortnight ago Dr. Firmond, of Stagg street near Leonard, and Mr. Frederick Fries, a wealthy brewer on Bushwick avenue, Williamsburgh, laid a wager concerning the number of glasses of lager beer that each could drink. It was stipulated that the man who drank the least should pay the score. They adjourned to the nearest lager beer saloon and began the contest. Each glass was sandwiched, it is said, with a draught of Kirschwasser, with a view probably of nullifying the intoxicating effects of the beer.

They drank, it is said, amid the applause of the spectators assembled to witness the exploit, and at each libation responded to the approving plaudits of their friends by waving their glasses triumphantly above their heads. At the thirty-fifth round it was evident that Firmond's stomach was painfully inflated, and that Fries was also a sufferer. Still the doughty champions imbibed.

Glass after glass disappeared. When the doctor vanquished his fiftieth glass, a friend, it is said, called—or rather carried—him out to visit a patient. The brewer, having completed his fifty-fifth potation, reluctantly rolled himself homeward, to renew the campaign another day. The neighbors say that Dr. Firmond never left the house from that day until he was borne to his grave.

Whether the brewer died of spontaneous combustion or of joy at the victory he had achieved, is not known; but certain it is that the funeral of Frederick Fries, the wealthy brewer of Williamsburgh, took place on Sunday afternoon, from his late residence on Bushwick avenue.

It is rumored in the neighborhood that much indignation is expressed by the families at the conduct of the saloon keeper in presenting a bill for one hundred and five glasses of lager beer, and an equal number of Kirschwasser. He is beginning to fear, however, that der monish is verloren, and threatens to sue the estate of Fries for the amount claimed. The executor, however, contends that Fries did not lose the wager, and the family of Firmond say that he would have returned and ultimately proved the victor, had he not been taken ill and thus incapacitated from renewing the contest. And so the case stands. Williamsburgh is minus two estimable citizens, and the landlord his little bill.

SPONTANEOUS VEGETATION.

There are certain well attested facts which, at first view, seem to indicate that many kinds of plants spring up where their seeds were never sown. Every farmer knows that, on clearing up a forest, a new species of vegetation appears; new trees, shrubs, vines, grasses, all seeming to have been brought there by an invisible hand. Burn over this same, and still another set of plants will come to light, as if begotten of the fire. Dig up marl from a bed ten or fifteen feet below the surface, moisten a lump of it, and quickly, before any floating seeds of plants can light upon it, cover it with a glass bell, and ere long several kinds of vegetation will start up from its surface. Last season, the writer of this saw the Sinapsis arvensis, a species of mustard, growing upon a heap of clay which had been thrown out from a deep well.

Facts like these have led many persons to conclude that the earth has power to bring forth certain products without the sowing of seeds upon it. Such and such plants, they say, are natural to the soil, the earth has an original power or property to produce them. For, they inquire, how could the seeds lie buried so deep and so long and not perish? Vegetable substances, as a general rule, decay rapidly, and why should seeds be an exception? And what agency has fire in promoting life and germination?

Some seeds will germinate only under certain conditions. In the cases first alluded to, these conditions were probably wanting until the seeds were brought up from the deep pit or the well, or until the forest was cut down and the sun let in, or the fire cracked the hard and flinty shell. If it be true that wheat and other cereals taken from Egyptian mummies several hundred years old have afterward germinated, it is because moisture and other conditions favorable to their growth had heretofore been wanting.

The fact is, that the surface of the earth has frequently been subjected to great changes even to a lower depth than is usually penetrated by man. Earthquakes, volcanoes, land slides, floods, etc., are the more obvious and violent causes; but the winds, tides, and ceaseless flow of rivers effect much more. By these means, surface-soil, filled with seeds of all kinds of grasses, herbs, and shrubs, and trees has been commingled with the lower strata of earth, and even with solid rocks thousands of feet below, present the surface. And when portions of this soil are afterward brought up by mining operations or artesian borings, the nations gape with wonder at the "creative power" of the earth.

In reference to the growth of plants on marl, it has been asserted quite learnedly that "marl is a deap-sea formation, belonging to the cretaceous period of geologists,.....that no plant or animal now living existed at any former geologic period, and that white clover, springing from marl heaps, could not come from clover seed produced when the marl was on the surface, because there were no clover plants at that time." But what if it were not true that marl is a deep sea formation? The most of our marls are alluvial, and, and may have been formed since clover has grown upon the earth. Yet even if it were cretaceous, the growth of clover in it, though curious, is not very mysterious. Scholasticus knows that in many geologic formations, in which land plants are found, petrified seeds and seed vessels are discovered, proving that then, as now, plants were produced from seed. This has been the universal law of vegetation from the very first. Geology proves the necessity of a Creator to begin the flora and fauna of each geologic period.

If the theory of spontaneous vegetation were true, we should frequently find plants growing about, which are not described in our standard botanical works. But our objector must use his eyes very sharply, if he would find a single plant in this part of the country which was not mentioned in Gray's Botany twenty or thirty years ago. Will he please send us a catalogue of the spontaneously produced plants which he has discovered? It would greatly help the cause of science.—Hearth and Home.

A San Francisco Chinaman, wishing to purchase eggs, called for chicken nuts.

HINTS TO CONSUMPTIVES.

Consumption is not a disease of the lungs, but one of the system showing itself in the lungs. If you fully comprehend this you are ready for the common sense treatment. Avoiding all local treatment by inhalation, all the panaceas, including whisky and cod liver oil—fashionable to-day, exploded to-morrow—employ those natural methods about which wise doctors never differ.

1. Walk in all kinds of weather two or three times a day. If too weak for this, begin with the saddle.

2. Hanging by the hands, in rings suspended from the ceilling, six feet from the floor, swing back and forward, sideways and in a circle. The effect upon the walls of the chest is very remarkable. I have known such swinging to reduce the pulse very sensibly in a week. In each exercise continue until slightly fatigued.

3. Wash the entire skin in tepid water and good neutral soap every morning on returning from the first walk, and rub the skin to redness every night, on going to bed with sharp hair gloves. Lawrence's English patent gloves are the best. All druggists sell them.

4. Sleep much, retiring before nine, adding a nap in the middle of the day. Never forget that good ventilation during the hours of sleep is vital in every case of diseased lungs.

5. Eat for breakfast and dinner oat meal, cracked wheat, beef, mutton, plain bread, potatoes, and other vegetables, except tomatoes. Use no pastry or other trash. Eat no supper.

6. Cultivate jovial people. Laughter is the most precious of all possible exercises for chronic lung affections.—Dr. Dio Lewis.

DRESSINESS IN CHURCH.

Harper's Bazar has some reputation in the fashionable world, and is free from the charge of prudery. Yet this fashionable authority thus denounces the display of dress that is so common in our houses of worship; "The best people of every Christian country but America avoid all personal display when engaged in worship and prayer. Our churches, on the contrary, are made places for the exhibition of fine apparel and other costly and flattering compliances with fashion by those who boast of superior wealth and manners. We shall leave our gewgawed devotees to reconcile humiliation in worship with vanity in dress. How far fine clothes may affect the personal piety of the devotee, we do not pretend to even conjecture; but we have a very decided opinion in regard to their influence upon the religion of others The fact is that our churches are so full of fluttering birds of fine feathers that no sorry fowl will venture in. It is impossible for poverty, in rags and patches, to take its seat if it should be so unfortunate as to find a place beside of wealth in brocade and broadcloth. The church being the only place on this side of the grave designed for rich and poor to meet together in equal humility before God, it certainly should always be kept free to all. It is so in most of the churches in Europe, where the beggars in rags and wretchedness, and the wealthiest and most eminent, whose appropriate sobriety of dress leaves them without mark of external distinction, kneel down together, equalized by a common humiliation, before the only Superior Being."

A PNEUMATIC TUBE FOUR HUNDRED MILES LONG.

The following extract from a letter describes the operation of a pneumatic tube between Glasgow and London. Probably few of our readers are aware of the existence of the process by which messages and packages are almost instaneously transmitted between these two cities:

"I had occasion to send a telegram to London the other day, and in a few minutes received a reply, which led me to suppose that a serious error had been committed by my agents, involving many thousand pounds. I immediately went to the telegraph office and asked to see my message. The clerk said, 'We can't show it to you as we have sent it to London.' 'But,' I replied, 'you must have my original paper here; I wish to see that.' He again said, 'No, we have not got it, it is in the postoffice at London.' 'What do you mean?, I asked. 'Pray let me see that paper I left here half an hour ago.' 'Well,' said he, if you must see it, we'll get it back in a few minutes, but it is now in London.' He rang a bell, and in five minutes or so produced my message, rolled up it pastboard.

"It seems that for some months there has existed a pneumatic telegraph between Glasglow and London, and between London and the other principal cities of the kingdom, which consists of an iron tube, into which the messages are thrown and sent to their destination. I inquired if I might see a message sent. 'Oh, yes; come round here.' He slipped a number of messages into the pasteboard scroll, popped it into the tube and made a signal. I put my ear to the tube and heard a slight rumbling sound for seventeen seconds, when a bell rang beside me, indicating that the scroll had arrived at the general postoffice, four hundred miles off! It almost took my breath away to think of it. If I could only go to Boston with the same relative speed, you might count on my passing an evening every week at No 124 Beacon street, and returning home to sleep. Who knows but we may be conveyed in this marvellous way before many years?

"Perhaps you are aware that there has been a large tube between the general postoffice in London and the station in Eustice square in operation for a number of years. The mail bags for the north are all sent by this conveyance, so that the post office receives letters up to a few minutes before the train leaves, three miles off. The transit takes less than two seconds! Surely this is an age of wonders."

AN EASTERN TALE.

A certain Rabbi had two sons whom both he and his wife tenderly loved.

Duty obliged the Rabbi to take journey to a distant country. During his absence his two promising boys sickened and died.

The grief-stricken mother laid them out on their bed, drew the curtain, and waited anxiously for her husband.

He came—it was night.

"How are my boys?" was his first question; 'let me see them.'

'Stay awhile,' said his wife; 'I am in great trouble and want your advice. Some years ago a friend lent me some jewels. I took great care of them, and at last began to prize them as my own. Since your departure my friend has called for them."

"Wife, what strange request is this? Give them up and that instantly—this very night. Show me the jewels."

She took the Rabbi to their bed, drew wide the curtain and said:

'Husband, here are the jewels!'

The Rabbi bowed his head and wept.

THE LUNATIC—MARK TWAIN ON M'FARLAND.

Under this heading Mark Twain reports some of the reasons which influenced the jury to acquit McFarland.

That the prisoner, Daniel McFarland, is insane, as above described.—Because:

1. His great-grandfather's step-father was tainted with insanity, and frequently killed people who were distasteful to him. Hence, insanity is hereditary in the family.

2. For nine years the prisoner at the bar did not adequately support his family. Strong circumstantial evidence of insanity.

3. For nine years he made of his his home, as a general thing, a poor house; sometimes (but very rarely,) a cheery, happy habitation; frequently the den of a beery, driveling, stupefied animal; but never, as far as ascertained, the abiding place of sanity.

4. He once took his unmarried sister in-law to the museum; while there his hereditary insanity came upon him and to such a degree that he hiccuped and staggered; and afterward, on the on the way home, even made love to the young girl he was protecting. These are the acts of a person not in his right mind.

5. For a good while his sufferings were so great that he had submit to the inconvenience of having his wife give public readings for the family support; and at times, when he handed these shameful earnings to the barkeeper, his haughty soul was so torn with anguish that he'd hardly stand without leaning up against something. At such times he has been known to shed tears into his sustenance until it was diluted to utter inefficiency. Inattention of this nature is not the act of a Democratic unafflicted in mind.

WANTED—A CHARACTER.

John Quill, who is rapidly making a reputation as a very funny and quaint writer, tells the following story in the Sunday Dispatch:

We recently discharged a servant girl named Emeline, and she wanted a certificate of a good character. As she could n't read and we desired to be honest, we gave her the following: She must have showed it to her brother, because there has been an Irishman sitting on our front door-step with a discouraging club for a week past and we have gone in and out through the alley gate:

Emeline is a native of Ireland. She has black eyes and black hair. Whenever she comes home from a wake her eyes are a little blacker, and she has less hair by two or three handfulls. Emeline is engaged, and her young man is a most successful assimilator of butter and sugar and milk that ever emigrated from Ireland. He is equal to any demand of this kind upon his stomach. Emeline has been vaccinated, but it didn't take.

This is the only thing about Emeline that we know of that won't take. Spoons take and hem stitched handkerchiefs take and she can mail more pillow cases and forks within a given time than any other girl of the same weight and size in this land of the free. Her Sunday out comes twice a week, and she can wash stockings in the tea kettle more efficiently than any other woman. Her way of taking care of a baby is to hold it upside down by the leg until it bursts a blood vessel; and if she washes windows she never sluices water down on the pavement unless a man is going up with a new high hat on, then she slings it around by the tin cupfull. Emeline's most unpleasant peculiarity is that she always blows the gas out when she goes to bed; but it will be best to encourage this practice, in the hope that she will suffocate herself some night. She would be much more efficient as a good, quiet corpse than as a servant girl.

LUCK AND LABOR.

It is a very common thing to hear people complain of their "bad luck," when in fact they ought to blame their own want of wisdom and action. The following from a distinguished writer, may be of some value to some of our street loafers who are so anxious to have 'something turn up.'

"Luck is everything waiting for something to turn up.

Labor with keen eyes and strong will, will turn up something.

Luck lies in bed and wishes the postman would bring him the news of a legacy.

Labor turns out at six o'clock, and with busy pen or ringing hammer lays the foundation of a competence.

Luck whines.

Labor whistles.

Luck relies on chances.

Labor on character.

Luck slips down to indigence.

Labor strides upwards to independence."

AN OLD FABLE FRESHENED BY FACT.

In the Potomac river, opposite Alexandria, a gull had, with a swoop, struck its talons deep into the back of a fish, the size of which it had evidently mistaken, for instead of bearing it away, as it had intended, the fish not only remained in the water, but swam rapidly about on the surface of the river, mounted by its fluttering and now alarmed assailant, which was unable to disengage its claws from their living fastenings. The bird, in its endeavors first to carry off and then to free itself from its intended prey, soon exhausted its strength, and its efforts becoming gradually weaker from exhaustion, the captured bird was dragged beneath the water and its death notes choked by the rippling waves as they closed over it. Moral. Better let fish alone hereafter.

The following is a bit of Fanny Fern's experience:

"I used to believe in school friendships. That delusion ended when Arabella Triplet told mutual friends that I was years and years her senior, knowing what a terrible fib she told.

I used to suffer pangs of anger because of woes of beggars. Since then I have seen one unstrap his legs in an area, and run off gaily on two legs of his own. Another threw a loaf of bread into the gutter, and I saw a third who had all day been yelling, please assist the blind, carefully examining his collection of ten cent stamps by the light of a friendly apple woman's candle.

"I used to put the greatest faith in lovers vows. Now, I do not believe a man means anything he says to a woman, unless it is something disagreeable.

"I used to believe in faithful servants. Since then I have hired girls from intelligence offices, and lost all my handkerchiefs but one.

"I used to believe in beauty. Since then I have seen a bewitching belle take off half her hair, all her teeth, the best of her complexion, two pounds of cotton batting and a corset."

PREDESTINATION.

A Missouri paper contains the following, which will pass without a great deal of urging:

"Do you believe in predestination?" asked the captain of a Mississippi steamer to a Calvanistic clergyman who happened to be traveling with him.

"Of course I do."

'And you also believe that what is to be will be?'

'Certainly.'

'Well, I'm glad to hear it.'

'Why?'

'Because I intend to pass that boat ahead in fifteen minutes, if there be any virtue in pine knots and loaded safety valves. So don't be alarmed for if the boilers ain't to burst they won't.

Here the divine commenced putting on his hat, and began to look like backing out, which the captain seeing, said:

'I thought you believed in predestination and what is to be will be?'

'So I do, but I prefer being a little nearer the stern when it takes place.'

The following is the African method of boiling rice, obtained from a person who resided in Liberia:

To one pint of rice, take three pints of water. The water must be boiling when the rice is put in it. First, wash the rice in cold water; as soon as the rice is washed, put it into the boiling water. Boil it as hard as possible for about five minutes; then drain off the water, and let the rice remain in the pot over hot embers to steam. It is necessary to redeem the embers once, and give the pot a shake. Keep it covered close. When the rice is sufficiently done, the grains will be whole, and swelled up.

Massillon, Wednesday, June 15.

I. O. G. T.—The 16th annual session of the R. W. Grand Lodge of N. A., of this order, was held at St. Louis, commencing on the 24th ult. Representatives were present from twenty seven states, the district of Columbia and Canada.

Mr. J. H. Orne, the principal officer of the order, presided over the deliberations of the session. He gives a favorable report of the condition of the order, and discusses various points intimately connected with the workings. In the degree work he recommends several radical changes, favors political action, and a modification of the constitution of the order. Seven new grand lodges have been added to those previously existing during the past year. Its lodges are spreading in every direction, east as well as west, south as well as north.

The G. W. secretary's report indicates a membership of more than 350,000 members and 5,600 lodges, which does not include several grand lodges from which returns had not been received. The vote by subordinate lodges as to whether the degrees should be continued in their present shape was very small, not more than 3000 members altogether voting on the question, and some two thirds voted for sustaining the degrees.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of J. H. Orne, of Mass., R. W. G. T.; W. S. Williams, Canada, G. C.; Lillie J. Robinson, Wis., V. T.; J. A. Spencer, Ohio, Sec.; John Campbell, Mo., Treasurer.

This humane, elevating and much needed reform is in good hands but them are impotent, comparatively without the co-operation of the friends of temperance everywhere. They invoke the aid of all, and let none be backward in rendering it.

Washington city has recently been the favored camping ground of some of the big Indians, who are high chiefs among their tribes away to the west. Their business, ostensibly, is to see the president and other government officials about the troubles which are continually arising between them and the pale faces, resulting not unfrequently in bloody Indian wars. These Indians are heathens, and they don't deny it; are often guilty of wrong doing; but if those white savages who rob, cheat and murder them were not worse than these red men, in every respect, there would be comparatively little trouble between the parties. Instead of warring against the Sioux, Snakes and other tribes, if our soldiers were to slay a few thousand white brigands we should read of fewer depradations by either party.

Burns wrote that Tam O'Shanter's wife nursed her wrath to keet it warm, perhaps even hot; but the rebel women about Baltimore can beat Tam's wife, if reports concerning them are true. Recently a few of this class at that place proceded to pile up flowers on the grave of the assassin Booth, who murdered Mr. Lincoln, as only a coward and traitor could do such an act. The remains of Booth's father lie near the murderer's grave, but no attention was paid to his memory by those women. As they seem to have a profound veneration for traitors and assassins it would not be incompatible with their practice if they were to shower a cart load of bouquets on McFarland; and while in the flower business they may as well hunt up the grave of the traitor Arnold and decorate it with the same emblems. Butler in Hudibras says—

"When a woman wills, she will, you may depend on't
But when she won't, she won't, and there's the end on't,"

Especially the rebel women. They are plucky haters,

The New York Tribune pays a most deserved tribute of respect to the genius, worth, character and motives of Mr. Dickens in the following brief notice. Truly millions will sincerely lament the sudden demise of one who stood pre eminent as a limner of human character in multiplied phases; and there is no one living—at least the world knows not of such a one—who can fill the great void made by the unrelenting hand of death. Mr. Dickens may have had his faults and failings—who is without them?—but his talents and virtues will not be forgotten while there are readers to admire and hearts to appreciate his numerous traits of human character:

CHARLES DICKENS.

It will be the glory of Charles Dickens, when his fame comes to be fairly weighed, not that he has created some of the most beautiful and by far the most humorous characters in English fiction; not that he has drawn scenes of real life with a vividness no artist ever attained before, but that he has acquired such an absolute mastery over the human heart that we take his ideal men and women at once to our bosoms, and make every one of his books a gallery of our personal friends. Little Nell is not the most beautiful creation in our literature by any means; "Oliver Twit" is not remarkably good as a novel; but ever since we read it, thirty years ago, we have been crying for more. Bob Cratchit and his lame child, Bob Sawyer and Mr. Benjamin Allen, Betsy Trotwood and Mr Dick, Pegotty, Micawber, Pickwick—dear monarch of them all—these are not for us the airy fictions of the brain, but flesh and blood friends whom we love with all our hearts and hope to meet some day in this very world. It is the greatness of Dickens that he can inspire us with feelings like these, and no other man has ever done it in an equal degree. Ten or twenty millions of people keep a corner in their hearts for Dickens, because he has seen so perfectly the poetry, the beauty, the hundred lessons which the life of the masses contains, and in all that he has done has striven for their good. "I have always had and always shall have,' said he on his first visit to this country, 'an earnest desire to contribute as far as in me lies to the common stock of healthful cheerfulness and enjoyment. I believe that Virtue shows quite as well in rags and patches as she does in purple and fine linen. I believe that she and every beautiful object in external nature claims some sympathy in the breast of the poorest man who breaks his scanty loaf of daily bread." So in the faith that literature was not for the rich alone, and the noblest work was the work done for the poor, he bent himself bravely to his splendid task. Whether battling with the weapons of his wit for the release of poor prisoners or poor schoolboys, or humanity for almshouse paupers, or relief for befogged and plundered clients, and a public ridden to death by aristocratic office holders; or founding a great liberal newspaper in the interest of popular government and free education; or refusing with dignity an invitation to attend as an actor the court where he could not be received as a private man, Charles Dickens, without a suspicion of demagoguism, without the affectation of condescending, without uttering one insincere or flattering word made himself as truly the poet and prophet of the people in prose as Burns was their chosen singer in verse. It is for this reason that wherever the English language is spoken Charles Dickens was cherished as a friend. It is for this reason that his death awakens to day such universal sorrow, and that his name will be held in sincerely affectionate remembrance to the latest generations.

The Belmont Chronicle nominates Judge D. D. F. Cowen for Supreme Judge, making favorable mention also of Judge Granger, of Zanesville, and Judge McIlvaine, of Tuscarawas. In this (Columbus) locality we will generally be satisfied if the convention will do itself the credit to nominate some such man as James L. Bates, distinguished as a jurist, and beyond reproach as a man.

In this locality, (Massillon) James L. Bates has friends that would like to have him receive the nomination for Supreme Judge, and know him to be competent to fill the place, or any other position in the gift of the people of the state of Ohio. Stark county could not give her vote in convention to a better man than Judge James L. Bates of Columbus.

Some of the foreign news within the last few days is of a melancholy character. A disastrous fire ravaged a large portion of Constantinople on the 9th inst., resulting in a loss of some $125,000,000, and more than 250 lives. Some of the grandest buildings of that ancient place were destroyed. The fire caused a terrible panic to pervade the city, and everywhere consternation and confusion prevailed.

And Saturday's papers brought us the news of the death of Charles Dickens, at Gadshill, which took place on the 9th. He was stricken with paralysis, and survived but a few hours after the first attack. He was one of the most popular eminent authors of the period, and his demise will leave a void which no man living can fill.

Mr. Editor:—The democrats up north are out of white ivory, and are bidding big for black walnut to make a congressman out of. I wonder if they think colored men want office bad enough to disgrace themselves by throwing away their votes on black walnut candidates. If a colored man would come to my house, who had not a bite for a week, while I would give him something to eat to save his life, if he was intelligent he should not stay over night. This black walnut candidate is a disgrace to colored voters, and if he is so ignorant he does not know that that party (the democratic) in 1868-9, spent not only thousands, but threw away tens of thousands of dollars of our money to put on the statute books their visible admixture bill, requiring a man to know who his father was before he could vote; or if he is intelligent he disregards his friends for whose votes he has the impudence to ask. Wm. Pinn.

East Liverpool, Ohio, on Saturday noon experienced a very destructive hail storm. Nearly all the windows fronting south and west were demolished. It is feared that the crops are ruined. Numbers of sheep and hogs are reported killd. Many of the roofs are riddled. The hail fell to the depth of four or five inches. The new Presbyterian church is one of the greatest sufferers, nearly all of their beautiful stained glass windows being broken. Some of the stones were seven inches in circumference.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Wednesday Ev'g, June 8, 1870.

Regular meeting—Members all present except Mr. Bollinger.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

One week's further time was granted to the standing committee on water works to report upon the petition of E. Chidester and others, for the extension of water on Cherry and prospect streets.

The street commissioner reported the expenses in his department for the week ending June 4th, 1870, $31,50.

The street and alley committee were instructed to establish a fixed price with street commissioner Hewes for horses and carts per day.

The finance committee submitted a report setting forth that a suitable yard had been provided by Mr. Taylor Clay for a city pound, at an expense of one hundred dollars for two years, payable on the 20th day of August 1870.

Ordinance 165, entitled "An ordinance to amend section 3 and section 4 of Ordinance No. 153, entitled an Ordinance fixing the boundaries of the several wards of the city of Massillon," was read a second time and filed with the orders of the day.

The street and alley committee were instructed, in connection with the city engineer, to establish the grade on Main street between the Ohio Canal and the P. F. W. & C. R. W.

A board of health was appointed as follows: For one year term—Jonathan Crooks and W. P. Clay. For two year term—E. Chidester and W. C. Richards. For three year term—Drs. T. J. Reed and J. P. Barrick.

Judiciary committee was instructed to report an ordinance prohibiting the use of fire arms, fire crackers and torpedoes on the streets, alleys and public grounds within the corporate limits.

The association of photographers, embracing the entire country, met at Cleveland a few days since. From what the Herald says there were many beautiful specimens of the art exhibited, and some (to the public) new and improved features produced by different members of the association. Massillon, we understand, was represented by Mr. Grossklaus, whose skill is rarely equaled in this profession.

More depradations were attempted recently at Fulton by setting the powder house on fire, but fortunately it was put out before reaching the powder, or the consequences might have been disastrous.

Florence, June 12, 1870.

It has been reported to the government to-day that another revolutionary movement is about to occur in Italy. The authorities are taking the measures necessary to suppress the disorders.

A dispatch from Vienna states that a descent of Italian revolutionists from Austrian territory is threatened, and that the Austrian government is taking measures to guard against the movement.

The Economista reports that the correspondence between the Italian and Swiss governments on the subject of the threatened invasion of Italy by the adherents of Mazzini has assumed a milder tone.

The Italian government has recalled its embassador from Lisbon in order to investigate certain charges brought against him by Portugal.

The monthly decrease in the debt is not the only encouraging financial statement we receive showing that the country, under a wise administration, is hastening to resumption, and consequent prosperity. The commercial statistics for nine months of the current fiscal year show that we have imported $6,000,000 less, and exported $15,000,000 more than during the same time in 1868-9, and, moreover, the increase of imports and exports carried in American vessels has been marked and significant.—Tribune.

A wedding occurred the other day in the town of Perryopolis, Fayette county, Pennsylvania, which surprised the natives, and set gossipdom all agog. A youth of twenty summers, who until a recent period resided in Birmingham, made his appearance in the village above mentioned, and took up quarters at a boarding house kept by a widow lady who attained her seventieth year. The Birmingham youth soon found himself indebted for boarding to the amount of about forty dollars, and unable to liquidate. He accordingly made love to the ancient lady, and, after a pleasant and persevering courtship of six hours, married her, and thus settled his board bill. On Saturday morning about nine o'clock the groom was seen in the vicinity of Layton's station, on the Connelsville railroad, with a carpet bag in one hand and another man's boots in the other. He reached Birmingham safely, and is now relating to friends how tired he has become of married life.

'Why, asked a governess of her little charge, do we pray to God to give us our daily bread? Why don't we ask for four of five days or a week?' 'We want it fresh!' replied the ingenious child.

A young lady in town, who was boasting about her teeth, was asked if they were natural or artificial. 'Neither,' was the reply, 'they are gutta percha.'

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

More than 500,000 persons bear testimony to their curative effects.

For Female Complaints, whether in old or young, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these tonic bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

What are They?

They are a gentle purgative as well as a tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving congestion or inflamation of the liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A

VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of poor rum, whisky, proof spirits, and refuse liquor, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called tonics, appetizers, restorers, &c., that lead the tipler on to drunkeness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all alcoholic stimulant.

They are the great blood purifier and life giving principle, a perfect renovater and invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For inflamatory and chronic rheumatism, and gout, dyspepsia, or indigestion, bilious, remittent, and intermittent fevers, disease of the blood, liver, kidneys and bladder, these bitters have been most successful. Such diseases are caused by vitiated blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the digestive organs.

Cleanse and vitiate blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you find it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, tape, and other worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In bilious, remittent and intermittent fevers, these bitters have no equal For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

Thanks to a remembering friend who favored this office with a rich boquet of beautiful flowers a few days ago.

A serious if not fatal accident occurred on yesterday at the stone quarry near town. A son of Mr. John Vogt, some 18 or 19 years of age, with others, was engaged in moving a large stone, weighing several tuns, down the hill side, in order to place it on a railroad flat. The young man was on the lower side of the stone, and when he saw it coming toward him with threatening rapidity tried to get out of the way, but unfortunately fell, and the stone fell upon him, wounding and and mangling him terribly. Had it not been that he fell with his head near a small stone, which tended to break the force of the large stone's movement, instant death must have been inevitable. The sufferer was immediate taken home, where every attention will be given to afford relief.

The complimentary notices which our cotemporaries of the New-Lisbon Buckeye and the Journal, and the Alliance Monitor have seen proper to make concerning a distinguished(!!) traveler, are duly appreciated; and if ever sister Brown and brothers Frew and Young should visit this place on business or pleasure, during the present editorial dispensation, they may prepare to have their modesty shocked by seeing their names in print. Bro. Young in adding fifty or sixty years to a more than two score years of pilgrimage among the types and inks makes a pretty liberal draft on the future.

A large assortment of very cheap shawls just opened at Ricks'.

The rains here have been seasonable and at not too long intervals; but in some places not far from here the earth has been considerably effected with drouth. The recent rains have supplied these waste places, and everything that can grow is doing its level best.

Hoop skirts and corsets a new lot and new styles, just received at Ricks.'

Cherries are multiplying upon us, and the crop of various kinds of this useful fruit seems to be more plenteous than it has been for some years past. People purchase liberally at 6 cents quart, stems and stones included.

You can buy woolen goods very cheap at Ricks', good cassimeres for 75 cts per yard, all wool.

Mr. Ertle some time since put up a good sized carriage shop on Charles street, and has as much as he can do in manufacturing and repairing heavy vehicles. The several establishments of this class here all seem to be busy, for our increasing population requires a vast amount of such work as they turn out.

The Odd Fellows celebration at Alliance, on last Thursday, was a success in every respect. A large number of the brethren from other places were present, and when in procession they mustered about 500 members, having some six or seven bands. Appropriate speeches were made, and the day passed off most agreeably to every body, as no disorder arose to mar its pleasures. It was decided that the next celebration of the kind be held at Massillon.

We have no special occasion to gas about gas just now as, as the moon is doing full duty, although the furnaces are dark and silent. But after a little, when the moon waxes older, and when the stars are obscurred from our vision by heavy clouds, somebody who is out late at night will think the streets should be a little more enlightened we do like many other places, put up oil lamps wherever they are needed.

Mr. Jackson has removed into his new and elegant shop on Erie st., nearly opposite the steam mill, where he is actively carrying on harness and saddle making business.

Accidental dips in the canal are not unfrequent along here these days, but as the weather and water are pleasant no bad effects have resulted.

We would respectfully call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Straw & Morton, agents for Singer's improved sewing machine and the wonderful Hinkley Knitting Machine. The agency for these machines at at Pittsburg is the oldest in the United States, having been established nearly twenty years ago. The firm is entirely reliable and any thing coming from their establishment may be regarded as the best. A great advantage in purchasing from this firm is that they are firmly established, and repairs and parts of machines can always be had.

Sunday the atmosphere was considerably cooled down, so that a hot stove was a rather pleasant companion. But such cool days are regarded as good for the grain, which is promising a bounteous harvest.

Strawberries.—Mr. P. G. Albright has raised on his own premises this season, a lot of the finest strawberries ever produced in this vicinity. And they are not only magnificent in size, but healthy, fresh looking, and present a most tantalizing appearance to anybody who has a partiality for such luscious fruit—and who has not? To encourage the propagation of this superior article, called the Seven hundred Strawberry, Mr. Albright proposes to sell the plants at the proper season. Mr. A. is always up to the best in raising superior fruits and vegetables.

Fire.—On Sunday night somebody fired the stable belonging to the Fulton Coal Company, near Fulton, entirely destroying the building, a quantity of hay and feed; and 5 mules and 6 horses which were burned to death. The fiend who did this will have to suffer for it, for the avenger is on his track.

By notice in the last numbers of the American it seems that Bro. Garrison desires to sell out his establishment.

Silk poplins in all colors at Ricks.

The railroad time table has been materially changed, (taking effect on the 29th ult.) as may be seen by reference to it in another place.

The present ought to be a good year for honey if abundance of white clover is of any advantage in that way, for there is an unusual amount of blossoms to be found everywhere we go in this part of the country.

Complaint was made a few days ago of the dryness of the weather, but within the last week it looks as if this state of the weather is changed to the other extreme, for indications are that the rain is a general one, as it continues daily. Sunday p. m. was a wet time here.

Parties in the manufacturing interest are about erecting a flax mill at New Lisbon, in the county cast of us. It is their design to prepare the article for others to manufacture, as there is said to be but three in the country, where flax is made into linen and other indispensable goods. And eventually the proprietors hope to introduce the spinning, weaving and other finishing process, if they meet with that encouragement they deserve. In consequence of this movement the farmers of that vicinity have sown an unusually large breadth in flax, and they will make money, for flax seed is a cash article, and brings about $3 a bushel. Cannot somebody go into the same business here?

On Monday of last week, a considerable force of men begun active work toward building a new courthouse for Columbiana county, in New Lisbon. It will require about 1,200,000 bricks.

McLain, Dangler & Co., the principal purchasers of wool in this place, are receiving limited quantities thus far, as the season has not yet fully opened. 42 cents is the highest price yet reached.

Mr. Rhein has withdrawn from the firm of coal dealers known as Doxsee & Rhein, and Mr Doxsee now carries on the business alone at the Massillon coal yard.

Among other indications of the growing prosperity of our city we are informed that Mr. John E. McLain has been disposing of lots, which occupy a beautful location in the eastern part of town; and that the purchasers expect to put improvements upon them before many months.

The Massillon Silver Band has been favoring our citizens with music these moonlit evenings, which makes the time pass away most pleasantly. One of their favorite positions is the music stand at the Zielley House.

FOUND—On yesterday between Massillon and Navarre a valuable horse blanket, which the owner can have by calling for and identifying.

We are favored with visits of those excellent publications, the Printers' Circular, Proof Sheet and Typographic Advertiser, of Philadelphia; the Specimen and Rounds' Printers Cabinet, of Chicago; The Printer and the Typographic Mirror, of New York, the Printing Gazette, of Cleveland, and perhaps others of this class. All of them are printed in excellent taste, exhibiting the best skill of those who get them up, and present elegant specimens of typography on paper of the finest quality, and other material to correspond. This is just as it should be, for all these papers are in the interest of our next of kin, the type founders. They are constantly making improvements, and increasing the variety of faces for types, until now their number is legion. Then in size there is another vast variety, from the great poster letters down to the tiny specimens which look about as small as a brass pin, taking some twenty lines to make one inch. The smallest type is called Brilliant, which is less than half the size of these lines. Then there are a thousand other curious features connected with these silent talkers which are more fully appreciated the more we become acquainted with them

If it does not partake of temerity we would suggest to these type makers some little improvements which if carried out would be of great convenience to the compositor. In nearly all the varieties of body types we see the compositor is required to put in a thin space before semicolons, colons, and exclamation and interrogation points. This is uniformly required, especially in book work, or if omitted the compositor is not considered workmanlike. Why not cast these characters a little thicker, and thus obviate the time and trouble of thin spacing? Fonts of types have been made with these advantages, and why not put them all up in that way? Then the commencement of quotations is indicated by inverted commas, which might be improved, we think, by casting reversed apostrophes, as has been done in some books, which is a decided advantage in symmetry and mechanical appearance.

Like our vicinity, Youngstown, Mahoning county, is cursed with a large number of grogshops—their number is estimated at about one hundred. The city council was asked to pass an ordinance by which the sale of liquors may be arrested, and they finally complied with the request, with the condition that, after its enactment the ordinance be submitted to the people. A stringent municipal law was therefore enacted, and a few days ago the people expressed their views upon it by a vote. This expression of opinion was very decided, as out of 1187 voters there was a majority of 311 against liquor selling, and in favor of the prohibiting ordinance. Here is a majority of more than three to one in favor of the right. Certain politicians and grogsellers tell us that we shall be no where in a vote on the temperance question, but this case don't look like it. It is hoped that this example will be followed elsewhere.

Our Akron neighbors recently held a railroad meeting, which the Beacon describes as an enthusiastic and successful one, in favor of securing the extension of the proposed Baltimore, Pittsburg and Continental road by that route. Some $300,000, it is said, were proposed to be raised for that purpose. Our Canton friends will have to be wide awake or those Yankees will get ahead of them. The road is to be made, and Mr. Garrett, the president, says it will be commenced within two or three years—and the question is, with a number of towns and cities, where will it be located?

Somebody has sent us a beautifully printed copy (the handiwork of W. S. Haven & Co., Pittsburgh) of the Presbyterian reunion—1869. It contains a graphic account of the reunion, on the 20th of May, 1869, of the once divided, but now united Presbyterian church. The reader, no difference whether a believer in churches or not, if not invincible to the higher and humane feelings of our nature, cannot but be more or less favorably impressed with the fraternal spirit menifested on that memorable occasion. Published by S. C. Clark & Co., 119 Wood street Pittsburg. Copies mailed to applicants for 25 cents.

Mr. Foltz, who lives on East street, we are informed, has been making admirable improvements about his premises, which, it is thought, are worthy of imitation by others.

The Ohio state republican central committee have decided that the nominating convention be held at Columbus on Wednesday, August 10th. This county will be entitled to ten delegates.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

Strong, Pure and Rich Blood—Increase of Flesh and Weight—Clear Skin and Beautiful Complexion, SECURED to ALL.

RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES. SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES. THE BODY UNDERGOES UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Scrofula, Consumption, Syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal, in its many forms, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands, and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous discharges from the ears, Eruptive diseases of the Eyes, Nose Mouth, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease, its potent power to cure them.

Not only does the Sarsaparillian Resolvent excel all known remedial agents, in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous Constitutional, Skin and Syphilloid diseases but it is the only positive remedy for Kidney, Bladder Urinary, and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are Brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid dark, bilious appearance, and white bone dust deposits, and where there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back, and along the Loins. In all these conditions Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent aided by the application of Radway's Ready Relief to the Spine, and Small of the Back, and the Bowels regulated with one or two of Radway's Regulating Pills per day, will soon make a complete cure. In a few days, the patient will be enabled to hold and discharge his water naturally without pain, and the Urine will be restored to its natural clear, and amber or sherry color.

THE WASTES OF THE BODY are supplied with new, healthy, and vigorous blood, that furnishes sound structure. Hence all suffering from Wasting Diseases, either MALE or FEMALE, of the Womb, Uterus, or other organs, whether Leucorrhœa, Sperm, or Eruptive discharges, of every kind, or from violence of "Self-abuse," from the Genital Glands, or Venereal dischrages, or ulcers, or sores, through the reparative process of RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN, are arrested, and the ruptured organs healed

THE TRUE THEORY OF CURE.
RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT supplies the system, through the blood, urine, sweat, and nutritive-ing constituents with Tissue making, Flesh making, Heat or Caloric and Fat making elements. All our constituents are nourishing, purifying, and strengthening. It Repairs, Heals, Resolves, and drives out of the body the products of Decay and Corruption. CONSUMPTION, WHITE SWELLING, DROPSY, SYPHILIS, CANCERS, TUMORS, &c., are all of a scrofulous diathesis, and as such, are within the curative range of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT!

1. That Scrofula, by whatever name designated, is the result of deposits from the blood, induced or caused by Chronic intoxination. That those deposits take place when the blood is poor, weak, watery, and incapable of holding in solution its proper constituents, or from the presence of some virus or poison in the blood, as Mercury, Calomel, Corrosive Sublimate, which is the Corrosive Chorides of Mercury or other agents, given in medicines and which enter largely in the common advertised Sarsaparillas, NOT ABSORBED OR CHANGED FROM THEIR NATURAL CONDITION.

2. That unless the repairs of nutriments are greater than the wastes, that decomposition and decay will supervene, and the powers of life become exhausted.

3. That the dying body cannot be sustained on any treatment of medication that exhausts the system, or fails to nourish the blood, the only medium through which the vital forces are preserved, and on which the growth of the body depends.

4. That Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent supplies a want never before possessed or known to exist in medicine, that the new found principle in Chemical science, which has been brought to such a perfect system of cure is exhibited as follows:

1. Its great power in assimulating the food in its first stage of distillation in the process of digestion, as chyme and chyle with the nourishing elements of blood, seperating from these liquids refuse and inert qualities before they are taken up by the lacteals and are formed into blood. Here we see that by its wonderful power it charges the system with the very essence or principle that forms the vital powers of the body, and its chemical action on the blood in its primitive and complete condition, separates every atom of refuse material or element, out of which the virus of disease is formed.

2. That the blood thus prepared, and supplied with these nourishing properties becomes strong, rich and healthy, and holds in solution its proper constituents, through the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and repairs the wastes of the body with sound and healthy structures. Such is the wonderful power the Sarsaparillian Resolvent exerts on the blood and juices of the system, that no virulent humors or poisons will exist by which deposits are made.

3. The rapidity which the Sarsaparillian enters the circulation, and communicates its curative powers through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids, secures the constituent secretions of each respective organ, establishing functional harmony throughout the system; through its action and power over the Secretions, the Liver secretes its proper allotment of bile; the Skin sweat; the Kidneys urea; and the Lungs carbon; so that this wonderful medicine not only establishes health in the sick body, but preserves the system in health.

As we have shown the principle on which disease is formed, as well as the only sensible theory of cure, we claim that the range of cure of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent is unlimited, and that every disease that is of a Chronic, Scrofulous or Organic Diathesis, is, properly within its special range.

in this Medicine consists in the selection of ingredients containing curative and nourishing properties that supply the blood and general system with such constituents which, in a condition of disease, it is deficient of, together with the combination of the several ingredients that form the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

If the constituent of Oxygen was exhausted from the atmospheric air, life would become extinct. So, when the blood becomes exhausted of its vital constituents, it deposits its tubercles and diseased humors in the body, and the elements of decay and decomposition supervene. Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent is to the blood and general system what OXYGEN is to the atmospheric air; it supplies the life principle, and enables the blood to hold in solution all its natural constituents.

DAILY CHANGES
take place, for as the Sarsaparillian increases the strength and purity of the blood, all deposits are diminished, and where there are tubercles formed in the lungs, the further deposits are arrested, and those that are established or forming dislodged, expelled, exhausted, or the portion of the diseased lung cicatrized, and the consumptive, scrofulous subject receives good, if not sound, health.

BLIND LADY CURED.
Gravel, Dyspepsia, Sore Legs, Bleeding from the Lungs, Cured.

Mr. GEORGE MORTIMER, a commercial traveller, in Canada West, writes us, under date of April 17, 1869, from Woodstock:

"The SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT is in great demand, and working wonders. Mr. HOAG, of Strafordsville, merchant, told me of a case where a woman WAS BLIND, but, by the use of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, can now see to read. She would give a certificate, but does not wish to be bothered with people writing. Hundreds call to see her. The cure is regarded as wonderful.

"Messrs. WHITE & SCOTT, principal druggists here, inform me of a person of note—high social standing—who for years was afflicted with DYSPEPSIA and LIVER, who has been entirely cured by RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT."

Mr. HOAG reports another case of Chronic Sore Leg, that resisted all other advertised medicines, cured by a few bottles of SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

"Mr. JONATHAN FREELAND, of Wilder Station, cured, by one bottle, of Bleeding from the Lungs, Night Sweats, Threatened Consumption.

"In every town I visit I hear of wonderful cures by the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT. For every kind of Humor, Sore, Skin Eruption, and all weakening discharges, the people use it, and become cured; so with Pits, Scrofula, White Swelling, Sore Heads and Eyes, Nose and Mouth, all kinds of Sores, this wonderful remedy acts powerfully on the blood that all who take it become strong, sound, and healthy.

"GEO. G. MORTIMER,
"Commercial Traveller."

RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT is sold at $1 per Bottle, or 6 Bottles for $5, by all Druggists and Medicine Dealers, and at DR. RADWAY'S Medicine Warehouse, 87 Maiden Lane, New York City.

A Standard Remedy.

Such a remedy is Dr. Tobias Venetian Liniment. It has stood before the public for 22 years, and has never failed giving satisfaction in a single instance. Every drop of this valuable compound is mixed by Dr. Tobias himself, therefore; it can always be relied on. It is warranted superior to any other for the cure of chronic rheumatism, toothache, headache, sore throat, vomiting, frosted feet, mumps, croup, burns, cuts sea sickness, insect stings, sprains, cholera, colic, spasms, dysentery, colds, swellings, pains in the limbs, back and chest. There is no medicine in the world that stands more on its own merits than the Venetian Liniment. Thousands of certificates are seen at the doctor's office' attesting to its rare virtues. Scrofula Cured by Brandreth's Pills.

Brandreth's pills penetrate the whole mass of blood, causing the expulsion of impurities. The body feels relieved from a single dose; what then may be expected from twenty from twenty? By continuing their use, the whole of the blood in time becomes purified, and the body reconstructed from good material, and a new lease of life secured.

Sing Sing, March 25, 1868.

My Dear Sir: My daughter Alice, thirteen years old, has been completely cured of that horrible disease, scrofula, which for years rendered life a torment; after all medicines and many physicians had been tried, and failed, I commenced giving her your pills. She took them almost every day constantly improving. She has now entirely recovered.

Yours truly, D. LUTHER.
HON. B. BRANDRETH.

Eternal Vigilance

Is the price of health as well as liberty. Be on your guard against dangerous dyes.

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

Is the only one which has stood the test of chemical analysis. At the store of the proprietor, 6 Astor House, New York, may be seen the certificate of that able analytical chemest, testifying that it contains no harmful ingredient. On the other hand, in the Journal of Chemestry may be found the statement that there are upwards of thirty poisonous hair dyes before the public. Choose the only safe and sure one.

PROF. CHILTON,

Cristadoro's Hair preservative, as a dressing, acts like a charm on the hair after dyeing. Try it.

C. F. GALTON'S

DYSPEPSIA

REMEDY.

In offering this remedy to the public, we feel confident that every statement we make in regard to its curative properties will be fully endorsed by all who avail themselves of it. The preparation has been used in this city nearly ten years, and has never failed to effect a permanent cure wherever used in accordance with the direct ons, and the patient has had sufficient strength of mind to abstain from rich and indigestible food for a short time. In cases of Heartburn, Waterbrash, Constipation, and Nervous Headache, arising from imperfect digestion, and all ailments which are produced from an abuse of that important organ, the stomach, it will afford permanent relief.

As an evidence that our statements can be fully relied upon, we refer the reader to the certificates below:

"For a number of years I was greatly afflicted with Dyspepsia, and although my stomach craved food, it would immediately reject it, should I eat anything, no matter how small the quantity. I was frequently compelled to leave the table without being able to take any nourishment. In a short time I became very much reduced in flesh, and was so weak that I was unable and unfit to attend to my business. My mind was in no better condition than my body, as I was continually oppressed with lassitude and depression of spirits. I tried all the patent medicines and prescriptions that I heard of, and some of these afforded me temporary relief, but in a short time I relapsed into my former condition.

"While suffering in this manner I heard of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and concluded to try it. I had taken it but a short time when I began to feel relief, and continuing to take it, I soon regained my health without any disagreeable feeling either while at the table or afterwards, and gained flesh rapidly. It is now nearly ten years since, and I have continued free from anything like a return of the Dyspepsia—I can therefore recommend it to any one suffering in like manner.

"Respectfully yours, ANDREW J. NICHOLSON.
"PITTSBURGH, March 20, 1869."

"This is to certify, that during the early part of the summer of 1868 my wife was much troubled with Dyspepsia. She had a severe pain in her side, her appetite was variable, and she became quite sallow. After having used two bottles of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, her appetite became good, she was relieved from the severe pain in her side, and her complexion became good again, all of which I attribute to the use of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and I have recommended it to all my friends and acquaintances. All that I can do to make its wonderful properties known, you can rest assured will be done JAMES A. SMITH.
"PITTSBURGH, PA."

If you are suffering do not hesitate to buy a bottle of C. F. Galton's Dyspepsia Remedy, and avail yourself of its curative properties.

THE LIVING MACHINE.

Injure the main spring of a watch and every portion of the works becomes disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls, to a certain extent, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further: for as the weakness or other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, is the weakness or other defect of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is sallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty. It requires renovating renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopeia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of this wholesome and palatable, yet powerful stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctiveness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend. 36-4w

DYSPEPSIA.

THE

Medical Properties Possessed by

BELTZHOOVER'S

Dyspeptic Bitters

Are fully attested by the certificates of well known gentlemen who have tested their virtues. Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Ague, General debility, and similar diseases are totally eradicated from the system by their use, while as a blood purifier and appetizer, they are unapproachable.

Doctor S. Beltzhoover, the sole proprietor of these bitters, are manufacturing them extensively at their establishment, No. 77 Third avenue, Pittsburgh, and are prepared to fill all orders that may be sent to them.

At this season of the year the human system is generally in a debilitated condition and a tonic is necessary for the preservation of health. The Dyspeptic bitters are strongly recommended for their tonical virtues, and many persons are deriving great benefit from their use. These bitters are the best in the market, and are being generally adopted by our citizens.

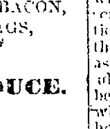
HALL'S

VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER.



RESTORES GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR, PROMOTES ITS GROWTH, AND IS A SPLENDID DRESSING. TRY ONE BOTTLE AND THICKEN UP THE THIN LOCKS!

Is the only perfected and scientifically prepared preparation of its kind ever offered to the public, and has no competitor in merit. By its use GRAY HAIR is soon restored to its original youthful color and brilliancy, which is so much admired by all. Persons whose hair is thin or falling out will, by the use of our Renewer, soon see its good effects, as, by its tonic and stimulating properties the hair glands will be incited and the hair grow thick and strong again. In cases of Baldness it will create a new growth unless the follicles are destroyed. It is cooling, and allays all itching and irritation of the scalp. It does not stain the skin as do dyes, but makes the scalp white and clean. As a DRESSING it is the best and most economical preparation in the world, as its effects last so much longer. Send for our Treatise on the hair, free to all, by mail.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

To Consumptives.

The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affliction and that dread disease, consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers his means of cure. To all who desire it he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, &c. The object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he considers to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburg, Kings Co. N. Y. -30? 1y

An English magazine says. "The trade in wild beasts is a sysem tas teg ular as the trade in tea, coffee or cotton or any other merchandise. Some creature, of which parrots are the most numerous, are brought over by sailors, who intend them, perhaps, as presents for their sweethearts, but they sell them for grog or tobacco as soon as they land. A dealer has agents in every country; and these agents communicate with the natives of the various countries. The system is now carried to such perfection, that if any gentleman or lady would like an elephant for private riding, a tiger as an ornament to the garden, a crocodile or hippopotamus for the lake, or an ostrich or emeu for the lawn, the wish can be gratified by merely addressing a letter to the London dealer. He will calculate distance, the time occupied in catching and transporting the desired animal, give a close estimate of the cost, and deliver it at the door on the appointed day.

The ancient wealth and opulence of Tyre came principally from its purple dye. About fifteen hundred years before Christ it is said, the king of Phœnicia was so captivated with the color that he made it his greatest ornament, and Tyrian purple thus became an emblem of royalty. In the time of Augustus, a pound of wool dyed at Phœnicia was worth about one hundred and fifty dollars. The purple was obtained from a small vessel or sack in the throat of the shell fish, to the amount of about one drop from each animal. At first, it is a colorless liquid; but by exposure to the air and bright sunlight of the Tyrian coast, it assumes successively a citron, yellow, green, azure, red, and, in course forty eight hours, a brilliant purple hue. The color, besides its great brilliancy, is also remarkable for its durability. Plutarch says, in his life of Alexandria, that at the taking of Susa, the Greeks found, in the royal treasury of Darius, a quantity of purple cloth at the value of five thousand talents, which still retained its beauty, although it had lain there nearly two hundred years. The color resists the actions of all alkalies and most acids.

BADLY CORNED.

A traveler fatigued with the monotony of a long ride through a sparsely settled region of the country, rode up to a boy who was engaged in trimming and dressing out a sickly field of corn, and relieved the oppression of his spirits thus:

"My young friend it seems to me your corn is rather small.'

'Yes; daddy planted the small kind.'

'Ah, but it appears rather yellow too.'

'Yes, sir, daddy planted the yallar kind.'

'From appearances, my lad, you wont get more than half a crop.'

'Just half, stranger, daddy planted it on halves.'

The horseman proceeded on his way, and has not been known to speak to a boy since. He considers them bores.

"I beseech thee not to go to this war,' said a Quaker lady to her son, an accomplished physician of Beaver county, Pennsylvania. 'But I do not go to fight, mother; I am going as a medical man; surely there is no harm in that.' 'Well, well,' replied the old lady, with a beaming look of love and loyalty in her eye, 'go, then, if it must be so; and if thee finds that thee kills more than thee cures, I advise the to go straightway over to the rebels!'

The Toledo Blade thus speaks of the lively times in prospect:

The capitalists in eastern cities have finally got tired of holding most of the currency of the country idle and without interest, and a marked activity begins to manifest itself in bonds, railway shares, and stocks generally. It is estimated that New York alone will have $150,000,000 to invest during the coming three months, and if prices of grain advance, the public may witness a rebound from the present business depression, and a live'y time generally.

Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., and get a pamphlet on Catarrh free, or send sixty cents and get Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. $500 reward is offered by the proprietor for a case of catarrh in the head which he cannot cure. Sold by druggists. Look out for counterfeits and worthless imitations. The genuine has Dr. Pierce's private government stamp on it. Cut this out as you may never see it again.

Take a good sound egg place it in strong vinegar, and allow it to remain for twelve hours, it will then become quite strong and elastic. In this state it can be squeezed into a wide mouthed bottle; when in, it must be covered with water, having some soda dissolved in it. In a few hours this preparation will restore the egg nearly to its original solidity; after which the liquid should be poured off, and the bottle dried, keeping it as a curiosity to puzzle one's friends for an explanation how the egg was laid in it.

A few days ago a gentleman whose proboscis had been lost, was invited out to tea. 'My dear,' said the good woman of the house to her little daughter, 'I want you to be very particular and to make no remark about Mr. Jenkins' nose.' Gathered about the table, everything was going well; the child peeped about, looked rather puzzled, and at last started the table, 'Ma, why did you tell me to say nothing about Mr. Jenkin's nose; he has n't got any!'

Josh Billings says the mosquito was born of poor but honest parents, who had in their veins some of the best blood of the country.

'I had rather not take a horn with you,' said the toper to the mad bull; but the bull insisted on treating him to two, and the toper got quite high.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, the only reliable preparation for restoring gray hair to its original color.

A mother who had with her little daughter, been examining the figure of a horse on a tombstone, and wondering what on earth it was the emblem of, was astonished to hear her say as they moved away, 'I should n't wonder if she died of the nightmare.'

An old fellow who became tired of his life, thought he might as well commit suicide, but he didn't wish to go without forgiving all his enemies. So, at the last moment, he removed the noose from his neck saying to hims lf, I never can or will forgive old Noah, for letting the snakes get into the ark. They have killed two thousand dollars worth of my cattle, and when he and I meet there'll be a general fuss."

Beecher says the reason he does not get along rapidly with his life of Christ is that Christ can wait, but his other speculations are pressing him.

'Now, my little boys and girls,' said a teacher, 'I want you to be very quiet—so quiet that you can hear a pin drop.' In a minute all was silent, when a little boy shrieked, 'Let her drap.'

The census takers get two cents for every name taken, ten cents for every farm, fifteen cents for every productive establishment of industry, two cents for every deceased person, and two per cent of the whole amount of names enumerated for social statistics, and ten cents per mile for travel.

A shopkeeper on Chatham street has posted on his windows the following notice: 'The public are requested not to confound this shop with that of another swindler who has established himself on the opposite side of the way.

The Wilmington (N. C.) Star is responsible for the statement that the names of three gentlsmen entered in a hotel register in that city, the other day, were Root, Hogg, and Dye.

'Grandpa, did you know that the United States has been in the habit of acknowledging tories?' What kind of tories? 'Territories! Now give me some peanuts, or I'll catch the measels, and make you pay for them.

MRS. ALLEN'S

Hair Restorer & Zylobalsamum

Are so uniformly grateful and beneficial, that they are with justice called the natural strengtheners of the human hair. They are two entirely separate and distinct preparations, not to be used together at one time.

Mrs. Allen's Hair Restorer

Never fails to satisfy the most refined and cultivated. A guarantee goes with every bottle, that it will quickly restore gray or white hair to its original youthful beauty, gloss and color; after its use a few times the hair will grow thicker and stronger. It will stop its falling and induce a healthy and luxuriant growth. It is an exquisite hair dressing, agreeable, harmless and healthy. Entirely different from most other preparations for the hair, its composition and ingredients are nourishing, giving life and vigor to the Roots.

Mrs. Allen's Zylobalsamum

This exquisite preparation is free from any sediment, and is a toilet treasure. The urgent want of a simple Hair Dressing, for the youth of both sexes, first induced the manufacture of the Zylobalsamum, and the sale of it is perfectly immense, not only in this country, but in Europe.

EXTRACTS FROM A FEW LETTERS.

"Your Zylobalsamum is used by every member, young and old, of our family, and we consider it invaluable. Should any gray hairs appear, we shall try your Hair Restorer, which we hear very highly spoken of."

"Father and mother use your Hair Restorer, and are delighted with it. It soon restored their gray locks to their youthful color, but daughters and son still find in the Zylobalsamum all their hair requires."

From the Principal of one of our large Female Seminaries: "Your Zylobalsamum has been used for many years by myself and family, and is the favorite among our young ladies."

$30 Hinkley Knitting Machine, $30

The most perfect machine yet invented. Will widen and narrow, turn a heel, or point the toe. It will knit plain or ribbed. It will knit stockings, drawers, shirts, hoods, comforters, mittens. It is cheap simple and durable. It sets up its own work, uses but one needle, and requires no adjusting whatever. It will do the same work that the Lamb machine will do, and costs less than half as much, and has not the tenth part of the machinery to get out of order. Circulars and samples mailed free on application. Agents wanted. All machines guaranteed.

STRAW & MORTON, Gen'l Agts.
334-1y No 20 Sixth st. Pittsburgh, Pa.

"This is no patent medicine humbug, gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Saharah on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two Ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing Remedy, a perfect Specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the head," also for offensive Breath, Loss or Impairment of the Sense of smell, Taste or Hearing, Watering or Weak Eyes, Pain or Pressure in the Head, when caused, as they all not unfrequently are, by the violence of Catarrh.

We offer, in good faith, a standing Reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that we cannot cure.

For Sale By Most Druggists Everywhere. Price 50 cts.

Sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of Sixty Cents. Four packages for $2,00 or 1 dozen for $5,00.
